

ENVIRONMENTAL CHANGE AND SUSTAINABLE SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Social Work – Social Development Volume II

Edited by
SVEN HESSLE

ROUTLEDGE

ENVIRONMENTAL CHANGE
AND SUSTAINABLE SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

This page has been left blank intentionally

Environmental Change and Sustainable Social Development

Social Work-Social Development Volume II

Edited by

SVEN HESSLE

Stockholm University, Sweden

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group
LONDON AND NEW YORK

First published 2014 by Ashgate Publishing

Published 2016 by Routledge

2 Park Square, Milton Park, Abingdon, Oxon OX14 4RN

711 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10017, USA

Routledge is an imprint of the Taylor & Francis Group, an informa business

Copyright © Sven Hessle and the contributors 2014

Sven Hessle has asserted his right under the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act, 1988, to be identified as the editor of this work.

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reprinted or reproduced or utilised in any form or by any electronic, mechanical, or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, without permission in writing from the publishers.

Notice:

Product or corporate names may be trademarks or registered trademarks, and are used only for identification and explanation without intent to infringe.

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library

The Library of Congress has cataloged the printed edition as follows:

Hessle, Sven, 1941-

Environmental change and sustainable social development: social work-social development/by Sven Hessle.

volumes cm.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 978-1-4724-1637-7 (hardback : alk. paper) 1. Social service. 2. Social ecology. I.

Title.

HV40.H5747 2014

361—dc23

2013032314

ISBN 9781472416377 (hbk)

ISBN 9781315579993 (ebk)

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	xi
Notes on Contributors	xiii
1 Introduction	1
Sven Hesse
A Global Agenda as Point of Departure – Development of Themes	1
Selection of Contributions for the Volumes	1
Environmental Change and Sustainable Social Development – an Overview	2
2 The Government of Canada: On Trial for the Racial Discrimination of First Nations Children	7
Cindy Blackstock
3 Environmental Social Work: A Future of Curiosity, Contemplation and Connection	13
Fred H. Besthorn
Introduction	13
Rebuilding a Community, Restoring Hope	14
Environmental Awareness in Social Work	15
Curiosity	17
Contemplation	18
Connection	19
Connectedness in Environmental Social Work	20
Conclusion	21
4 Disaster Management: Perspectives for Social Work and Social Development	23
Disaster Management – Action and Impact: Perspectives for Social Work and Social Development	23
Roland Sewell
Overview and Background	23
A Few Definitions	24
The Ethos of Social Work is Central to Good Disaster Management	25
Conclusion	31

Roles and Functions of Social Workers in Wenchuan Earthquake Post-Disaster Intervention: Based on the Three Stage Model	32
Xiyiing Wang and Xiulan Zhang
Introduction	32
Three-Stage Model	33
Social Work Interventions in the Rescue Phase	34
Social Work Interventions in the Temporary Relocation Phase	35
Social Work Intervention in the Reconstruction Phase	36
Conclusion and Lessons Learned	38
Recent Development on Disaster Management in Thailand	40
Decha Sungkawan
Community-based and Gender Awareness Perspectives in Disaster Risk Management	41
Social Workers' Role in Disaster Risk Management	43
Disaster Management in the Relief Shelter for Flood Victims at Thammasat University in 2011: Social Work Perspective	44
Conclusion	48
Humanitarian Aid in Times of Disasters: Lessons from Responses to the 2004 Tsunami in Sri-Lanka	49
Tom Vickers and Lena Dominelli
Introduction	49
Methodology	50
Key Features of Empowering Interventions	52
Conclusion	52
Invisible Women: Examining Women's Experiences of Aid in the 2004 Indian Ocean Tsunami in Sri Lanka	53
Lena Dominelli
Introduction	53
Methodology	54
Findings	55
Conclusions	59
Notes	60
Social Workers as Crisis First Responders	61
Antoinette Farmer and Ronald Quincy
Skills and Areas of Disaster Recovery where Skills can be used	61
Conclusion	63

5	Indigenous Understanding of Environmental Change and its Social Consequences	65
	Climate Change and Environmental Justice: Indigenous Perspectives from the United States	65
	Hilary N. Weaver
	Our Changing Environment	66
	The Impact of Climate Change on Indigenous Peoples	67
	Indigenous Responses to Climate Change	68
	Adapting to Change	69
	Conclusion	70
	Is Situational Migration Vulnerable? An Answer from Asia through Sustainable Intervention	71
	Sarangadhar Samal
	Impacts	74
6	Integrating Economic, Environmental and Social Perspectives	77
	The Social Protection Floors Recommendation R. 202 (2012) Adopted by the International Labour Organization	77
	Alejandro Bonilla Garcia
	Inclusion of Children as Stakeholders in Social, Economic and Environmental Development	80
	Antoinette Lombard and Andries Viviers
	Introduction	80
	Children's Views on the Impact of Climate Change	81
	Children's Inclusion as Stakeholders in Sustainable Development	82
	Conclusion	83
	Multidisciplinary Education for Environmental Sustainability	85
	Cathryne Schmitz and Thomas Matyók
	Beyond Disciplinary Response	85
	Reflection on Curriculum Development	87
	Structuring the Process	87
	Lessons Learned	88
7	Social Action for Clean Water	91
	The Quest for Clean Water in Kenya: Social Workers' Uneasy Role	91
	Pius Mutuku Mutie

Introduction	91
Kenya's Water Situation	92
Initiatives to Improve Access to Water in Kenya	93
Players in the Water Sector	94
Social Work and 'Industry'	95
Social Work Training and 'Technical Fields'	95
Social Workers Uneasy Role	97
Challenges and the Way Forward	99
Electronic sources	100
Water, Pesticides, and Our Children's Wellbeing: International Initiatives and Opportunities	101
K. Findley, L. Laiewski and M.E. Rogge
The Nature and Scope of Pesticide Contamination in Water	101
Consequences for Children	102
Pesticide and Water Initiatives, Strategies and the Precautionary Principle	103
8 Social Economy and Sustainable Social Development: Local Lessons – Global Challenges	111
Microfinance System and Rural Housing: Generation of a Model from the Case Study of Sivagangai District, Tamilnadu, India	111
Francis Adaikalam
Overview of Rural Housing in India	111
Housing Finance in India	113
Study Objectives and Methodology	113
Case of Sivagangai District: Generation of Model	113
Housing Requirement in Sivagangai District	114
Analysis of Various Schemes for Housing in Sivagangai District	115
Conclusion and Recommendation	116
Enterprising Social Work: Social Enterprise Action Research with Remote Indigenous Communities in Australia	119
Deirdre Tedmanson
Introduction	119
Participatory Action Research	120
Empowering Social Work	122
Enterprising Social Work	122

9	Sustainable Social Development: Research, Education and Practice	125
	Social Work Global Access Model: Promoting Social Equity and Social Change	125
	Monit Cheung and Rhonda G. Patrick
	The Global Access Education Model	126
	Delivery Method	126
	Next Steps	129
	Implications to Sustainable Social Development	129
10	Environmental Justice at the Heart of Social Work Practice: Greening the Profession	133
	Lena Dominelli
	Introduction	133
	Environmental Degradation: A Disaster that both Complicates and is Complicated by other Disasters	134
	Defining Green Social Work	142
	Conclusions	146
	Acknowledgements	147
	Appendix: The Global Agenda for Social Work and Social Development	151
	Index	159

This page has been left blank intentionally

List of Figures and Tables

Figures

4.1	Development and Vulnerability to Disasters	28
4.2	The Disaster Management Cycle (author's figure)	30
8.1	Process of Money Imbursement for IAY scheme	115
9.1	Global Access Website	127
9.2	Blackboard Learn: Shell Development	128
10.1	Empowering environmentally just practice	135
10.2	Multi-stakeholder environmental partnerships	141
10.3	Green social work interventions	144

Tables

5.1	Timetable. Within 18 years changes occurred through the direct guidance of NYSASDRI, and NYSASDRI handed over its responsibility and ownership to the villagers and withdrawn its activities. The villagers fought a long battle for their survival. This village was declared an ideal village by the government in 2008 and they are taking a leadership role in supporting many other villages	73
5.2	Qualitative changes and benefits to people and the environment	75
7.1	International Resources for Pesticides, Water and Children's Wellbeing	104
8.1	Occupancy by Residence for India	112
8.2	Distribution of Households by Type of Census Houses Occupied, 2001	114
8.3	Various housing models developed by an Agency X [Field visit notes. 2008]	116
8.4	Developing a Model by comparison schemes implemented by Government and Voluntary Agencies	117

This page has been left blank intentionally

Notes on Contributors

Francis Adaikalam is Assistant Professor in the Department of Social Work, Loyola College, Chennai, India and is a 'Marie Curie Fellow' under the FP7 International Research Staff Exchange Scheme. He has undertaken numerous action based research on the quality of life of migrants. He received a research fellowship and scholarship from Mahanirban Calcutta Research Group (MCRG), Kolkata and the International Public Health University. He was senior researcher for a research project on a public report on health for the state of Tamil Nadu and team leader for a study supported by UNICEF on the relationship between the mid-day-meal and schooling using the Andaman and Nicobar Island as a case-study. His interests include Social Work Profession, Social Policy, Migration and Public Health.

Fred H. Besthorn holds a M.S.W. and PhD in social work from the University of Kansas and a Master of Divinity from Grace Theological Seminary. He is Professor and MSW Program Director in the School of Social Work at Wichita State University, Wichita, Kansas, USA. He has over fifty published works on a broad array of topics. His work has focused on the development of a conceptual framework for integrating Deep Ecological awareness with social work policy and practice. He has presented at dozens of social work and environmental conferences around the world. His work involves research on the relationship between environmental degradation, sustainability, environmental racism and its social, economic and spiritual impact on disadvantaged and oppressed populations. He is also the creator of The Global Alliance for a Deep-Ecological Social Work.

Cindy Blackstock is Executive Director of the Caring Society and Associate Professor at the University of Alberta in Canada. She is a member of the Gitksan Nation and has worked in the field of child and family services for over 20 years. An author of over 50 publications, her key interests include exploring, and addressing, the causes of disadvantage for Aboriginal children and families by promoting equitable and culturally based interventions. Current professional interests include holding fellowships with the Ashoka Foundation and the J.W. McConnell Family Foundation.

Alejandro Bonilla Garcia is from Mexico where he completed his Actuarial studies at the Anahuac University. He holds a MSc Degree in Applied Mathematics to the Economy as well as a PhD in Economics from the University of Social Studies of Toulouse, France. He is Senior Actuarial Adviser to the Deputy Director General for Policy of the ILO in Geneva Switzerland. He has been Director a.i. of the Social Security Department of the ILO; Secretary General a.i. of the International Social Security Association; Deputy Regional Director of the ILO for the Americas; Social Security Expert for Central America and the Caribbean and Senior Actuary of the International Actuarial Service of the ILO. He founded and was an associate of two consultancy firms. Economic and Actuarial Consultants, (CEASA) S.A. and Project Development of the Northwest (DIPNOR). Mr. Bonilla Garcia was also the developer and first Director of the Sonora Investment Fund (FISON). Mr. Bonilla Garcia has numerous publications and has participated in fora all over the world. He is member of the Mexican College of Actuaries (CONAC), member of the Mexican Association of Actuaries (AMA) and member of the Swiss Association of Actuaries.

Monit Cheung MA, MSW, PhD, LCSW is Professor and Chair of Clinical Practice Concentration at the Graduate College of Social Work, University of Houston, USA. She is Principal Investigator of the Child Welfare Education Project for training child welfare social workers and Associate Director of the Child and Family Center for Innovative Research. She is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker specializing in play therapy, family counseling, child/adolescent counseling, child protection, sexual and domestic violence, and incest survivor treatment. A volunteer clinician by counseling and case consultation at the Asian American Family Services, and a consultant trainer for the Hong Kong Social Welfare Department and the Hong Kong Police Force. She has presented in numerous workshops and conferences and written numerous publications on child protection and parenting issues in English and Chinese.

Elizabeth J. Clark, PhD, ACSW, MPH, is Chief Executive Officer of the National Association of Social Workers-USA. Located in Washington, DC, the NASW is a membership organization of professional social workers with 140,000 members. In addition to promoting, developing, and protecting the practice of social work and social workers, NASW has a strong social justice and advocacy mission. She is a member of the Academy of Certified Social Workers and the National Academies of Practice. Dr. Clark's background is health care with a specialization in oncology. She has worked in direct clinical practice; has held several academic positions including an Associate Professorship in Medical Oncology; has been a hospital administrator; has conducted research and has published in areas such as cancer survivorship, hope, and bereavement.

Antoinette Y. Farmer PhD, University of Pittsburgh, USA. Associate professor and associate dean for academic affairs in the school of social work at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, USA. Her research focuses on examining the social and interpersonal factors that affect parenting as well as how parenting practices influence adolescent high risk behaviours, such as delinquency and substance use. She has published widely and co-edited a special issue of the Journal of Social Service Research, on conducting research with minority and oppressed populations.

Katie Findley MSW, is a PhD student in the school of social work at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, USA. Her research interests include human trafficking for organ removal, domestic and international organ transplantation policies, chronic kidney disease, and international health inequalities. She is a graduate research assistant at the Rutgers University Institute for Families where she engages in child support research and training evaluation. Katie is engaged in research, evaluation, and collaboration with international non-governmental organizations and educational institutions in China to improve and increase social services and social entrepreneurship as a research assistant for the Huamin Research Center. She also is a Delegate Assembly member for the state of New Jersey for the National Association of Social Workers.

Sven Hesse PhD, is a Psychologist and Senior Professor of Social work at Stockholm University. His research concerns the study of poverty, families and children in an international perspective as well as Comparative International social work in general. He has published alone, co-edited or contributed in numerous books, research reports and articles. He is founder and Editor-in-Chief of the International Journal of Social Welfare. He was given the Katherine Kendall Award from IASSW in August 2006 for his distinguished contributions to international social work education.

Elizabeth Hoffer MSW, ACSW, is special assistant to the chief executive officer and senior policy analyst at the National Association of Social Workers-USA. She advises the CEO on key planning, strategic, and policy issues, and assists in managing special projects within the association. Additionally, she works within the advocacy and social policy department, supervising Political Action for Candidate Election (PACE) which endorses federal candidates for election, and the manager for the Social Work Reinvestment Initiative. Ms. Hoffer also oversees NASW's efforts on behalf of service members, veterans, and their families, most recently managing an initiative in collaboration with the White House Joining Forces Initiative.

Laurel Laiewski MSSW, is a doctoral student at the University of Tennessee (UTK) College of Social Work, Knoxville, Tennessee, USA. She received her master's degree in social work from UTK with a management and community practice concentration and her bachelor's degree in psychology from Clemson University in Clemson, South Carolina. She has worked and volunteered for several non-profits in the Knoxville, Tennessee for the past five years. She studies displaced populations, refugee resettlement in the United States, the socio-cultural implications of climate change, disaster policy, and social work and the natural environment.

Antoinette Lombard is professor in Social Work and head of the Department of Social Work and Criminology at the University of Pretoria in South Africa. She is actively involved in social work education and professional development of social work in South Africa. She is the international representative of the Association of South African Social Work Education Institutions (ASASWEI) and in this capacity a board member of the International Association for Schools of Social Work (IASSW). Her research interests include developmental social work with vulnerable groups, social and economic development and policy and more recently, environmental and green social work.

Thomas Matyók PhD is Associate Professor, Chair in Department of Peace and Conflict Studies, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, USA. His research interests include the education and training conflict workers, the changing nature of war, violence, modern day slavery, and human and environmental oppression. He has extensive experience in crisis negotiation and crisis management. He is presently engaged in research on international curriculum development for global citizenship. His educational and scholarship expertise involve creating responses to complex, global issues including war, poverty, and violence, which result in the oppression and degradation of both the community and the environment.

Pius Mutuku Mutie holds a BA degree in social work and an MA degree in sociology from the University of Nairobi and a Ph.D. in social anthropology from the University of Bielefeld in Germany. He is currently Senior Lecturer in the Department of Sociology and Social Work, University of Nairobi. He is also the coordinator of the social work studies programme. Dr Mutie has taught social work at the University of Nairobi since 1993. He has published in the disciplines of social work, sociology and anthropology. Dr Mutie is also a consultant on social/community development issues.

Rhonda G. Patrick LCSW, MPA, is a social work educator, research and practitioner. She is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker, with over 20 years of clinical, administrative, and governmental social work practice experience. She provides executive consultation services to community based organizations primarily regarding program design, implementation and evaluation, revenue development, and business administration. She is also the CEO of a behavioural health organization that manages large governmental contracts for smaller organizations. In addition to working in business and administrative enterprises, she is the primary researcher and content designer who owns and operates a web-based learning management company with over 4,500 active students. Ms. Patrick focuses her research on the use of technology in direct social work practice.

Ronald Quincy PhD is director of the Center for Nonprofit Management and Governance, School of Social Work, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, USA where he teaches non-profit and public management courses. He is co-editor-in-chief of the Journal for Nonprofit Management. Ron's research interest includes disaster relief, and institutional leadership and governance. Ron served as a cabinet member under two State of Michigan governors; was White House Fellow/Special Assistant to the Secretary, Housing and Urban Development; Foreign Policy Advisor, US. State Department; Associate Vice President and Assistant to the President, Harvard University; Executive Director, Martin Luther King Center for Nonviolent Social Change; Executive Director of the Congressional Black Caucus Foundation; and President, White House Fellows Foundation.

Mary E. Rogge MSW, PhD is associate professor at the University of Tennessee (UTK) College of Social Work, Knoxville, Tennessee, USA. She studies environmental justice for children, displaced persons and other vulnerable populations, disaster management and community-based participatory research. She is co-principle investigator of the interdisciplinary UTK Youth, Environment, and Health research team. On the board of the International Consortium for Social Development. Chairperson and treasurer of the managing board of Social Development Issues, Chairperson of the U.S. Association for Community Organization and Social Administration. Currently a Commissioner on the Global Social Work Education Commission of the U.S. Council of Social Work Education and a board member and fellow of the UTK Center for the Study of Social Justice.

Sarangdhar Samal heads Orissa's leading social developmental organization (NYSASDRI) in India. He has been involved in action and research development for twenty five years. He has pioneered and initiated a number of change models in rural Orissa. He is the Founder of Kalinga Eye hospital which caters to a population of four million of the most deprived areas of Orissa on both a low and no cost basis. He recently founded the Nysasdri School of Journalism and Social work to offer two years master's degrees in social work and journalism.

Cathryne L. Schmitz MSW, PhD is Professor in the Department of Social Work and and Chair in Department of Peace and Conflict Studies, University of North Carolina Greensboro, USA. She has extensive experience in the fields of leadership, community building, and macro practice. Much of her scholarship focuses on organizational and community change, critical multiculturalism, privilege/oppression, leadership, multi-disciplinary education and practice, global engagement, and environmental concerns, responses, and education. She has numerous publications, including a co-authored book on Critical Multicultural Social Work. She is actively engaged in global and environmental education and scholarship having presented nationally and internationally on these issues.

Roland J Sewell MBE BSc (Hons) MICE CEng, entered ministry with The Salvation Army, and has worked for decades in relief and development programs. Lt. Colonel Sewell and his wife founded The Salvation Army's International Emergency Services. He has responded to complex emergencies in times of war and peace with programmes as diverse as cholera preparedness, feeding, psychosocial support, water supply and rebuilding homes, lives and livelihoods. He admires the strength of the human spirit to recover after loss. In retirement he has founded LetsMakeItHappen Ltd; a coaching enterprise, engaging with, motivating and inspiring individuals and communities to overcome challenges and develop good solutions. In 1992 he was honored by Queen Elizabeth II with the Order of the British Empire for services to The Salvation Army and OXFAM.

Decha Sungkawan is Associate Professor of Social Work and Criminal Justice, and Dean at the Faculty of Social Administration, Thammasat University, Thailand where he teaches social work, social policy and social welfare, criminology and criminal justice. His research interests and publications have addressed the interrelated issues of social work and social welfare and criminal justice. He has been involved in several studies and development projects in and outside Thailand. He has his first degree in Political Science from Thammasat University and holds PhD from the School of Social Service Administration, the University of Chicago, USA.

Deirdre Tedmanson is Lecturer in the School of Psychology, Social Work and Social Policy at the University of South Australia, and Associate Researcher with the Hawke Research Institute and a Research Scholar with the Centre for Aboriginal Economic Policy Research at the Australian National University. Deirdre has published widely on a range of subjects including Indigenous community and enterprise development, women's empowerment, and participatory action research. Her research and teaching interests include the critical analysis, organizational, management, and policy dimensions of human service delivery, particularly for Indigenous Australians. A major focus of Deirdre's research is working in collaborative partnerships with people and organizations from the Anangu Pitjantjatjara Yankunytjatjara (APY) Lands of central Australia, on Anangu initiated social and emotional well-being, community development and social enterprise initiatives.

Hilary N. Weaver (Lakota) is a Professor and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs in the School of Social Work, at SUNY-Buffalo, USA. Her teaching, research, and service focus on indigenous populations. She currently serves as President of the American Indian Alaska Native Social Work Educators Association. Dr. Weaver has presented her work regionally, nationally, and internationally including presenting at the Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues at the United Nations. She has numerous publications, and is currently compiling an edited book, Social Issues in Contemporary Native America: Reflections from Turtle Island. Dr. Weaver has received funding from the National Cancer Institute to develop and test a culturally-grounded wellness curriculum for urban Native American youth, the Healthy Living in Two Worlds program.

Tom Vickers is Lecturer in Social Sciences at Northumbria University (UK). During 2011 and 2012 he was employed at Durham University on the ESRC-funded project 'Internationalising Institutional and Professional Practices: Community Partnership Models of Change in Post-Tsunami Sri Lanka'. A related set of themes run through Tom's research, concerning: the impact of international, national and local economic and political contexts on policies affecting migrants and ethnic minorities; the interaction between policy, professional practice, and community action; His current work focuses on the impact of the economic crisis and the British government's 'austerity programme' on refugees, asylum seekers and Eastern European migrant workers in North East England.

Andries Viviers is a graduate student of the University of Pretoria and Senior Social Policy Specialist for UNICEF South Africa. He works actively in the field of child rights and is particularly interested in promoting the participation of children in social dialogues through ethical participation methods and ensuring that information in the public domain is accessible for children. He has contributed to many child rights-related publications and was member of the editorial team of the South African Child Gauge 2010/2011 that focuses on children's participation.

Xiyang Wang is Associate Professor in the school of Social Development and Public Policy at Beijing Normal University, China. She teaches qualitative research methods, feminist theories, and disaster social work. Her research interests include resilience, HIV/AIDS, violence against women, and disaster social work.

Xiulan Zhang obtained her PhD degree in social welfare from the University of California at Berkeley, USA. She is Professor and the Dean of the School of Social Development and Public Policy, Beijing Normal University, China. She is on the national advisory councils of healthcare reform, poverty alleviation, and aging; is a member of the Advisory Committee of the Ministry of Civil Affairs; is the vice-president of China Association of Social Welfare and China Social Policy Association in China. She has published extensively in the areas of education, social protection, social welfare, community participation, long term care, poverty and illness, early child care and education, health care and housing issue of the migrant populations, child protection and child poverty, etc. She has consulted to the Ministry of Civil Affairs, the World Bank, the Asian Development Bank, UNICEF, DFID, the Ford Foundation, and other agencies.