ABOUT THE COOPERATING ORGANIZATIONS

UNRISD

The United Nations Research Institute for Social Development (UNRISD) is an autonomous agency engaging in multi-disciplinary research on the social dimensions of contemporary problems affecting development. Its work is guided by the conviction that, for effective development policies to be formulated, an understanding of the social and political context is crucial. UNRISD attempts to provide governments, development agencies, grassroots organizations and scholars with a better understanding of how development policies and processes of economic, social and environmental change affect different social groups. Working through an extensive network of national research centres, UNRISD aims to promote original research and strengthen research capacity in developing countries.

Current research programmes include: Civil Society and Social Movements; Democracy and Human Rights; Identities, Conflict and Cohesion; Social Policy and Development; and Technology and Society.

A list of free and priced publications available from UNRISD can be obtained by contacting the Reference Centre, UNRISD, Palais des Nations, 1211 Geneva 10, Switzerland; Tel (41 22) 917 3020; Fax (41 22) 917 0650; Telex 41.29.62 UNO CH; Email: info@unrisd.org; Website: http://www.unrisd.org.

WWF-INTERNATIONAL

In just over three decades, the World Wide Fund For Nature (WWF), formerly known as the World Wildlife Fund, has become the world's largest and most respected independent conservation organization. With almost 5 million supporters distributed throughout five continents, 24 national organizations, five associates and 26 programmes, WWF can safely claim to have played a major role in the evolution of the international conservation movement.

Since 1985, WWF has invested over US$1,165 million in more than 11,000 projects in 130 countries. All these play a part in the campaign to stop the accelerating degradation of Earth's environment, and to help its human inhabitants live in greater harmony with nature.
