Vorwort

Von verschiedenen Seiten wurde mir angetragen, ein Signaturenlexikon dem Band 2 über Monogramme folgen zu lassen. In der Tat ist das ein reizvolles Thema, jedoch wuchs auch dieses Projekt weit über den geplanten Umfang hinaus. Es ist mit über 16 000 Signaturen die weitaus größte, in einem Band zusammengefaßte Sammlung.

Das Buch erhebt keinen Anspruch auf Vollständigkeit, genauso wenig auf Entlarvung von falschen Signaturen, was den Rahmen dieses Werkes bei weitem gesprengt hätte. Es versteht sich als eine Sammlung von Signaturen des 19. und vor allem des 20. Jahrhunderts aus Europa und den Vereinigten Staaten.

Niemand wird schlüssig klären können, warum die Künstler der neueren Zeit so undeutlich signieren. Diese Eigenart hat ihren Höhepunkt im 20. Jahrhundert. Wichtig ist jedoch, daß die Künstler im wesentlichen in einem sich wiederholenden gleichen Schema signieren, so daß der besondere Wert in diesem Buch in der Möglichkeit der Zuordnung der Namen liegt.

Wenn man die Arbeitsaufenthalte der Künstler betrachtet, stellt man schon sehr früh einen Trend zum Wechsel der Aufenthaltsorte fest. Man kann oft den kulturellen Kreislauf der jeweilige Epoche an den Ortswechseln der Künstler ablesen. Dabei erkennt man recht gut, wieviele Amerikaner in Deutschland studierten, wieviele Deutsche in Frankreich, wieviele Tschechen in Deutschland und so weiter. Dies ist ein wichtiger Aspekt bei den Signaturen, werden hier doch Signaturen vorgestellt, die ohne unsere Entschlüsselung den falschen Urhebern zugeordnet würden, da sie z. B. einen deutschen Namen tragen, jedoch nicht deutscher Herkunft sind.

Der biografische Teil erhebt, wie beim Monogrammlexikon 2, keinen Anspruch auf Vollständigkeit, er ist lediglich als eine weiterführende Information bei der Zuordnung der Signaturen gedacht. Obwohl einige Daten oft nur spärlich belegt sind, habe ich mich bemüht, die Daten möglichst vollständig wiederzugeben. Auch in diesen Band sind viele neue Künstler aufgenommen, deren Werk die kulturelle Vielfalt unseres Jahrhunderts illustriert.

An dieser Stelle möchte ich meiner Frau Claire danken, die unermüdlich einen Großteil der Arbeit am Computer durchführte. Bedanken möchte ich mich vor allem beim Städelmuseum in Frankfurt, das mich freundlicherweise in seiner Bibliothek recherchieren ließ, sowie bei allen Sammlern und Händlern, die mir großzügig Einblick in ihre Sammlungen gewährten.

Ich hoffe, hiermit ein hilfreiches Buch zur Kunstgeschichte vorgelegt zu haben.

Foreword

I have been urged from various quarters to produce a dictionary of signatures to follow the second volume on monograms. The subject is indeed an appealing one, but this project, too, assumed proportions far beyond the envisaged scope. With 16,103 signatures it has become by far the largest single volume collection of artists' signatures.

The work lays no claim to being complete, nor to exposing false signatures, which would have exceeded the dimensions of the project. The book is intended to be a collection of nineteenth and especially twentieth century signatures from Europe and the United States.

No-one will be able to explain satisfactorily why artists from more modern periods sign their works so indistinctly. This phenomenon has become particularly acute in the twentieth century. The important thing is, however, that an artist follows essentially the same schema when appending his signature; the merit of this book is thus to permit names to be assigned to such schemata.

If we look at where works of art have been produced, we notice that, from a very early date, artists have tended to move from place to place with scant regard for national borders. Often the cultural circuits of a given period are reflected in such migrations. It is easy to discover how many Americans studied in Germany, how many Germans in France, how many Czechs in Germany, and so forth. This is an important aspect; had we not deciphered them, many of the signatures in these pages would have been ascribed to the wrong people where, for example, they bear German names without being of German origin.

As in the Dictionary of Monograms 2, the biographical section of this work does not claim to be complete; it is intended merely to provide further help in identifying signatures. Although some of the data is based on relatively slight evidence, I have nevertheless attempted to supply the information as fully as possible. In this volume, too, many new artists have been included whose work illustrates the cultural multiplicity of our century.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my wife Claire, who has borne the brunt of the computer work, for her tireless application. I would also like to express my special thanks to the Städel Museum in Frankfurt, which kindly opened its library for my research, and to all the collectors and dealers who have given me such generous access to their collections.

I hope that with this book I have made a helpful contribution to art history.

Hinweise für die Benutzung

Dieser Band enthält:

- ein Quellenverzeichnis;
- eine Abkürzungsliste der Arbeitstechniken der Künstler;
- eine Hilfstabelle zur Klassifizierung vorkommender Schriften, d. h. eine erweiterte Liste allgemein schlecht definierbarer Buchstaben, die jedoch in ihrer Zeit offiziell verwendet wurden;
- die Signaturen mit darunter gedrucktem Namen sowie dem Entstehungsjahr der Signaturen;
- der Name ist gleichzeitig der Schlüssel, um im biographischen Teil zu recherchieren. Dieser biographische Teil enthält den Namen, Geburtsjahr/-Ort, Sterbepjahr/-Ort, Arbeitsorte, Arbeitstechniken. Namen in Klammern sind entweder Pseudonyme, Geburtsnamen, Ehenamen oder Namen, wie die Künstler ebenfalls noch genannt werden.

Bei der Sortierung im lexikalisch-biographischen Teil werden die Umlaute ä, ö, ü wie a, o, u behandelt.

Namen mit Apostroph wie d'A sind im Alphabet unter A einsortiert.

Sämtliche Kürzel wie sen., jun., J. etc. sind vereinfacht als d.J. (der Jüngere) sowie d.Ä. (der Ältere) wiedergegeben.

Bei der Suche nach Doppelnamen oder Namen vor bzw. nach Heirat empfiehlt es sich immer, unter beiden Varianten nachzuschlagen.

Instructions for Use

This volume contains:

- a list of references;
- a list of abbreviations for the artists' working techniques;
- an auxiliary table on the classification of the lettering that occurs, i.e., an extended list of generally difficult to define letters that were nevertheless in official use at the time;
- the signatures with names printed below, as well as the year of origin of the signatures;
- the name is also the key for searching the biographical section. This biographical section contains the artist's name, date and place of birth, date and place of death, places of work, and working techniques. Names in brackets are either pseudonyms, maiden names, married names, or names by which the artists are also known.

In ordering the lexicographical/biographical section, the umlauts ä, ö, ü are treated as a, o, u.

Names with apostrophes like d'A are listed under A.

All abbreviations like sen., jun., J. etc. are simplified as d.J. (der Jüngere/the younger) or d.Ä (der Ältere/the elder).

When looking up double names or maiden/married names, it is always advisable to look under both variants.
